Ballerine

Noam Izhaki
CEO of Ballerine

"We saw the challenges financial institutions face in managing risk of small businesses coupled with the inefficiencies caused by fragmented solutions and knew there had to be a better way. Our vision is to simplify risk management with a customizable, global platform that integrates all necessary tools and uses AI to automatically analyze data and streamline automation. This helps financial institutions work smarter and supports small businesses to thrive in a supportive and innovative environment."

Mike Quinn
co-founder and CEO of Boost

"My co-founders and I came together in 2020 with a bold vision to build a global platform that powers growth in emerging market supply chains. We passionately believe that by enabling SMEs to gain access to better pricing, working capital credit, and digital tools, Boost can become an engine for growth and job creation at a global scale."

of CredibleX

"SME financing is a critical driver of economic growth, empowering entrepreneurs to innovate, create jobs and contribute to the prosperity of their communities. At CredibleX, we're committed to supporting these businesses on their journey to success."

Hernan Lopez Conde
Founder & CEO
of Digi

"Having experienced the digital transformation in retail, we wanted to shape the digital transformation in financial services. Small businesses are the engine of the global economy, and ensuring their financial inclusion is the key to sustained economic growth."

Shensi Ding CEO and co-founder of Merge

"We're excited about the opportunity to help fintech companies transform their product offerings by enabling them to add reliable and robust integrations at scale."

Alex McLeod
Founder of Parlay

"After a decade of work in economic development, our team realized that 77% of small businesses still struggle to access affordable capital and lack the insights needed to navigate the lending process. We envision a future where community lenders, powered by Parlay's AI-driven loan intelligence system, can get millions more small businesses approved for loans using unique, personalized insights that help both lenders and borrowers."

Madou Sylla
co-founder and CEO of Prime Dash

"Picture a dynamic ecosystem where advanced algorithms and smart analytics empower small businesses to flourish, while financial institutions leverage these same tools to offer more tailored services and support. We seek to harness the power of data science and fully integrated financial solutions to create a future where small businesses are not just surviving but thriving, driven by precise, data-informed decisions and beneficial financial partnerships."

RedOwl

Jitto Arulampalam
co-founder and CEO of Red Owl

"My co-founder and I, as experienced fintech entrepreneurs, are thrilled to bring the power of AI to reimagine business spending within SMEs. The RedOwl AI assistant not only significantly improves the financial controls of an SME by removing the mundane and administrative human tasks but also generates predictive intelligence for the finance teams to optimize its cash flows."
